

Tom Waidzunus

SHC and Sociology, Northwestern

NO Evidence of Efficacy, Potential for Harm: Relegating SEXUAL REORIENTATION

Therapies to the Scientific Fringe
in the United States,

2000-2009 Monday

October 25, 2010

4:00 - 5:30 pm

Hagstrum Room

University Hall 201

Evanston Campus

reception to follow

BIO: Tom Waidzunus, Ph.D., is Postdoctoral Fellow in the Science in Human Culture Program at Northwestern University and is a Visiting Lecturer in the Department of Sociology. He recently earned his Ph.D. from the University of California, San Diego in Sociology and Science Studies, and his dissertation is titled "Drawing the Straight Line: Social Movements and Hierarchies of Evidence in Sexual Reorientation Therapy Debates." He is currently working on extending this research to understand the ex-gay and gay rights movements as transnational networks in relation to the production of knowledge of sexual orientation within different national contexts

